

ARTICLE APPEARED
ON PAGE Z-2

LOS ANGELES TIMES
18 JULY 1982

The World

The threat of a major new British spy scandal involving lax security at a top-secret communications station is worrying Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, British news media reported. The London Times said the reports center on the government's communications headquarters at Cheltenham after the arraignment last week of Geoffrey Arthur Prime on an espionage charge. A government prosecutor described the charge as being "of the gravest possible nature," but no details were disclosed.